Dear Parents

Working in partnership with parents – Workshop Thursday 25th January 2:15pm

Staff and I would like very much to invite parents to a workshop on how we can develop the reading ability of all of our children. Reading ability is at the core of education and we would like to give parents guidance on how to assist with children of all ages when reading. It is an expectation that all parents will read with their children daily. Staff and I know this can be a challenge and will have guidance on the best ways to achieve this. Governors at the school have discussed how we work in partnership and endorse the view that all families should find the time to read with their children daily. One of our first aims is to stop using the term ‘free reader’; we are all developing readers, children especially so.

Staff and I would much appreciate your support – please email the office to confirm your attendance. admin@marwood.devon.sch.uk
